Editorial

Hi to all,

Welcome to another edition of the Ghostbuster magazine and a New Year.

New courses have been setup for 2018. See page 14 for more information.

We are including, in this edition, several articles by members, on “Fact or Fiction”. Also included are several photos of unknown people, who you may be able to identify.

We have a new section titled “Information Issues in Genealogical Research”. We will be including this in each magazine, going forward.

Please continue to visit our Family History room and the Local Studies room at the Library. Please also check out the library collections for Family History items. Please see our website for resources that are in our library.

Our volunteers are available in the Family History Room, at the Campbelltown Library, Monday to Saturday, 10 am to 12 Noon, except for December and January.

Welcome to any new members of the Society. We hope we can assist you in your researches.

David Beddie and Ellen Smith

You may wish to bring your own laptop, or other portable device to assist in this workshop.

Times: Arrive 10.45 am. Start 11.00 am. Finish 3.30 pm.

Cost $10.00. Bookings essential.

To book, please contact Denise Baxter at: social@cdfhs.org.au or: 02 4625 8612

From the President's Pen. . . .

Hello Members,

Welcome to 2018. I hope everyone had a fantastic Christmas and a great New Year.

It's difficult to comprehend that we are speeding into 2018 at the rate we are going, March already.

Our December meeting was held at Cataract dam and was followed by our Christmas Party where we had an enjoyable informal time together.

In December 2017 the Mayor of Campbelltown, Cr George Brticevic invited our Society to attend a "Gift of Time Ceremony" to acknowledge and thank the City's volunteers for their selfless contribution to the community.

Also, the Campbelltown Library invited its volunteers to a "Volunteer's Afternoon Tea". Each volunteer was presented with a certificate of appreciation and gift to thank them for the time and help given to the library throughout the year. A big thank you to all the volunteers in our society who give endless hours each years to help the library provide a professional service for our Family History Room.

At the writing of this report we have held our February meeting where Marie Holmes spoke on her research and presentation of her book "Calvados and Riesling" which covers Marie's German and French ancestry, and our first course for the year "Beginning your family research" was conducted on the 18th Feb.

The other courses we intend having through 2018 are;

Sunday 20th May – Brick Walls workshop.

Sunday 15th July - Irish and Scottish family research.

Sunday 16th Sept – Convict research.

Sunday 18th Nov - DNA course.

Our Social Secretary is also looking to book more outings for us to enjoy during the year. If you think of an outing that is different and would be very interesting to do could you contact Denise by Email on social@cdfhs.org.au or phone on (02) 46258612.

As President I'm looking forward to 2018 being a very successful year for all of us.

Best Regards,
Robert PALMER
CDFHS President.

FACT OR FICTION.?

My great grandfather, Edgar Green married my great grandmother Melanie Watts, known as Lanie, in 1893. They had 5 children - Reginald known as Dud, Edgar k/a Roy, Muriel k/a Merle, my grandmother, Nira Kathleen Margery, k/a Peg and youngest son Cecil, born in 1907. All except for the youngest weren't known by their real names. However, names weren't the real FICTION!

5 years later, Edgar deserted his wife and 4 children, taking Cecil with him. The family lived in a comfortable home in Roseville.

The FICTITIOUS story told by Edgar or Lanie to explain the disappearance, was that Cecil had an illness needing exercise in the sea. Both weren't heard of for many years.

A year before he died, in 1937, Peg, now married and my 12 year old mother Betty Higgins managed to find them far away in Douglas Park.. They travelled many miles by steam train. Perhaps, knowing he was ill, Edgar had finally made contact. He and Cecil must have been waiting to walk them a long way on a dirt track to Wattle Farm, where they lived in a dirt floored shack, in very poor circumstances. They cooked on an open fire and, and had no electricity. After 25 years apart, Cecil was finally reunited with his mother and siblings. I was fortunate to find the letter after she died that my mother wrote to her grandfather, back in 1938, when they met.

To add to the mystery, I also discovered an old postcard in that Douglas Park shack, addressed to Mr Edgar Green in 1912, when Edgar deserted his family. It was written in a very childish style by a young woman, early in the morning before she left, in Sydney. . . Who was this girl and why was the post card kept for so long? Was it an unknown FACT, that Edgar left his family for her? I know she never went to the country with them. This was one of only 3 objects owned by Edgar that survived, so must have been very important to him.

I remember Cecil Green, who died in Campbelltown Hospital in 1990, as a very shy, kind man. He lived a simple, tough life, but at the end, after living alone for 50 years, was cared for by family. He was my great uncle.

FACT OR FICTION

Lt Ernest James Rollings, M.c. & Bar 17 BN. Tank Corps.
(The Taffy who won the war).

Ernest Rollings b. 1893 in Hereford, Wales. He joined the Glamorgan Constabulary, then enlisted in the CAVAIR in November 1914, transferred to the INFANTRY in 1915, and after being wounded, was selected for officer training. In January 1917 he was commissioned into the machine gun Corps and volunteered for the Heavy Branch, becoming one of the first “tankmen”. By August 1917 he was a Lieutenant in “C” Battalion, the “Tank Corps”. He was in charge of a “Pioneer Tank”, his duty being to assist the fighting tanks get into action and cross the Steenbeck. It is said that despite the rough ground under heavy H.E. and gas bombardment he helped every one of the tanks in the section out of difficulties, and then went back to rescue a seriously injured officer and his men, who were under heavy shell fire. He was awarded M.C. for this action and his citation states that “if it had not been for his courage and energy it is doubtful that any of the fighting tanks would have got into action”.

On 28th September 1918, the eve of the attack on the Hindenburg Line, Major D.P. Stevenson the Commander of 35 Squadron R.A.A. called his men together and told them the plan of attack had been changed because of maps which had come into Rawlinson's possession. They had shown every German machine gun post, trench mortar battery and fortified position, which had been captured in August 1918 by an unknown British subaltern Col Vivian. The person who found and handed in the German plans was Ernest James Rollings from Glamorgan, Wales.

Ellen Smith.

FACT OR FICTION

Ernest Robert Joseph Rollings, born 22-4-1917 was a trainee Able Seaman at the beginning of the 2nd World War. He was seconded into the British Navy and sailed off to England in R.M.S. OTRANTO, a passenger ship, along with other Australians. He had enlisted on 4th Sept 1939.

Ernest was not seen for years until his brother, Samuel Thomas Herbert Rollings saw him on a ship looking down to where he stood - “hey skinny” he yelled. They were able to meet and have a photo taken. This was in Tobruk, North Africa 1941.

Whilst in the UK, Ernest went to visit relatives in Wales. He was greeted with a request that he go around to the tradesmen's entrance. He was not used to being treated unkindly so he left. I presume his grandmother gave him instructions as to where his relatives lived in GLAMORGAN, Wales.

Was this family really related to the Australian Rollings or were they so high and mighty they would not entertain a lowly Able Seaman?

Ernest was discharged from the Navy on 12th March 1946 at HMAS Rushcutter, NSW. His family always called him the Little Admiral because he dressed so well, always looking spick and span.

Family Tree? Ours is a shrub!

Friends come and go, but relatives tend to accumulate.

Genealogists are ghost-a-holics.

Genealogists never quit, they just go to another branch!

Genealogy is relatively interesting.

Genealogy: A hay stack full of needles.

Unknown Photos

I would like to find out where this school is. The photo was taken about 1900 and could be in the Hoxton Park area or the Smithfield area.

The Genealogist's Psalm

‘Genealogy is my hobby, I shall not be bored,
It maketh me do research in far places,
It causeth me to correspond with odd people,
It keepeth me alert,
It leadeth me into areas of understanding for curiosity’s sake,
Yea, though I live through a winter of inclement weather,
I will feel no boredom, for my ancestors are with me,
Their mystery and their history intrigue me,
It provideth me with a means of escaping the tensions of my responsibilities,
It filleth my house with books,
My cash runneth lower,
Surely, interest and knowledge shall follow me all the days of my life,
And I shall be listed in the ranks of genealogists forever ‘.

Information Issues in Genealogical Research

The Accuracy of Death Certificates and Headstones.

Death certificates are generally accurate for the date and place of death. The value of their data goes rapidly downhill from there because the rest depends on the knowledge of the informant, who may even be a stranger to the deceased (e.g., a nurse in a rest home).

As with most historical and genealogical records, death certificates and tombstones cannot necessarily be treated as absolute fact. Everything is true to one degree or another, and the more evidence you can gather, the more confidence you can have that you are nearer to "getting it right."
